Dear Business Owners,

These are unprecedented, uncertain and terribly challenging times. The Lower Providence Business Development Committee wanted to let you know that we are thinking of you and the sacrifices you've been asked to make to mitigate the spread of COVID-19 in our community. We are concerned about the welfare of the business community, your employees and your families.

While the township building is closed to the public, our administrative staff is working to answer phone calls, provide daily updates via our website and social media pages, and to carry on with township business as best they can. Business owners are encouraged to follow the township, county, and state updates. We understand, however, that this information can at times be overwhelming. Please know that we are here to help.

Although we're limited in our ability to assist with the disruption to your business, we are available to answer your questions and connect you to critical resources. We offer you our support now and in the coming months.

Sincerely,

The Lower Providence Township Business Development Committee

Colleen Eckman, Vice Chair, Lower Providence Board of Supervisors

Cara Coless, Supervisor

Don Delamater, Township Manager

Mike Mrozinski, Community Development Director

Bill Roth, Special Projects & Technology Director

Denise Walsh, Community Relations Coordinator
